

TO IMPORT CATTLE FROM GUERNSEY ISLE

Twenty Head of Bred Heifers to Give New Impetus to Better Cattle Movement

The better dairy cattle movement in Portage county is to be given new impetus by the coming season by the importation of 20 head of pure bred Guernsey heifers direct from the Island of Guernsey.

The cattle will be purchased through Frank S. Peer of Cranford, N. J., the best known importer of livestock in the United States, and are expected to arrive in Stevens Point in March. They will all be bred heifers and will be consigned to R. K. McDonald of this city, who has conducted negotiations with Mr. Peer for some time past.

Eight of the heifers will be retained by Mr. McDonald and will be added to the herd of Guernseys he has been developing during the past eight years. Five will be purchased by G. W. Andrae of this city and will be placed on the old T. W. Anderson farm in Stockton, of which he is the owner. D. F. Gates of Buena Vista will take three for his own farm. The remaining four will be taken by J. W. Dunegan, vice president of the First National bank, who will use them to start a cow club among farmers of the county, similar in purpose to the calf clubs which he has so successfully carried out in the past.

Mr. Dunegan's plan is one which should have far-reaching results in building up the cattle industry of the county, for he contemplates that the placing of the four imported Guernseys among the farmers will be but the beginning of an organization he will continue from year to year. He aims to assist farmers in securing pure bred cattle, both local and imported. He will, at the same time, continue the calf clubs.

Frank S. Peer, the importer who will handle the cattle for Portage county, has been in that business for more than a quarter of a century. He deals in horses, sheep and swine as well as cattle and buys only from the English Channel Island and England. In addition to Guernsey cattle he imports Jerseys, Ayrshires, Herefords, Shorthorns, Angus, Dexters and Alderneys.

Mr. Peer is at present on the Island of Guernsey and will personally select the heifers, which will be shipped from the island in February. Mr. Peer guarantees each purchase and accompanies shipments to this country in order to see that the cattle are given intelligent care while on board ship. The shipment will be held at quarantine in New York for several weeks and when released will be shipped direct to Stevens Point. They will be fully insured on the trip from the east.

Guernsey cattle are so well known in the United States and have "proved up" so well that comment on that score is unnecessary. However, a bit of history connected with the strain is interesting. The Island of Guernsey is only about seven miles from the Island of Jersey, and years ago both islands specialized in Jersey cattle. The inhabitants of one island bought stock from inhabitants of the other and worked in harmony to improve the Jersey strain. A break in these relations came however, when the Island of Guernsey imported some bulls from Normandy. These were not Jerseys, but large animals of a different type. The strain was thus mixed and the Guernsey developed.

The Island of Jersey stuck to the Jersey and passed laws prohibiting the importation of any cattle into the Island. The Island of Guernsey retaliated by passing a similar law, which was even more drastic in that it also provided that cattle once taken off the island could not be returned. Only once has this latter prohibition been lifted, that being a few years ago when several Guernseys from the island were sent to London to be exhibited at a cattle fair sponsored by the king. Then it was necessary to secure the consent of the government of the island to bring the cattle back.

The Guernsey is larger than the Jersey and of different color. It has practically the same butter fat test as the Jersey, however, but produces more milk. Thus the claim is made that Guernsey cattle, being superior in both size and production to Jerseys, are better as all-round animals.

R. K. McDonald, who has conducted negotiations for the importation of the 20 head of Guernseys for this county, already has a fine herd of his own, which will be enlarged on Thursday of this week by the addition of light pure bred purchased at Brodhead, Wis. When the shipment from Brodhead is received he will have 21 head of pure bred, including two cows which were originally imported, and two young bulls. He also has 15 grades.

This is the first time in the county's history, it is believed, that cattle have been imported direct to Portage county. There is much good stock of various kinds in the county, but so far as known no attempt has ever been made before to buy cattle overseas for shipment here.

J. W. Dunegan has taken a leading part in the better farming movement in the county and his plan to assist dairymen improve their herds is but one of many public spirited projects he has originated. Although he has placed an order for but four heifers, if there are Portage county farmers desiring to secure imported cattle they can do so by informing Mr. Dunegan within ten days, and the order

IS A SPLENDID EXHIBIT

Fifth Annual Show of Stevens Point Poultry Association Best On Record

The fifth annual exhibition of the Stevens Point Poultry association was thrown open to the public this morning in the Kingsbury building on Main street, below the Elks' club.

The big hall accommodates the most notable exhibition of poultry in the association's history, setting a new standard of quality and variety. There are also more birds than have ever been shown here before on a similar occasion and more cities and towns are represented. Stevens Point exhibitors are taking a prominent part in the show.

The hall is open daily from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. An admission charge of 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children is being made and season tickets can be purchased for 25 cents. The public is urged to support the show, thereby contributing to its financial success and showing their interest in the raising of better poultry. The government is urging development in the poultry industry and exhibits of this kind are valuable agencies in stimulating interest along these lines.

Chickens of all kinds are being shown, including fancy breeds for show purposes and general utility birds. Many have won prizes in other shows and all evidence the value of better breeding. Several pens of pigeons of various kinds are also entered. W. H. Laabs of Waupaca has been engaged as judge and he began scoring the exhibits today.

One of the principal reasons why the show this year is superior to any held in the past is the fact that the Stevens Point association is affiliated with the associations of Wild Rose, Manawa, Wausau and Waupaca in a circuit. This has resulted in an interchange of exhibits among members of the various associations.

So successfully has the arrangement worked out that on Thursday evening the circuit will be more definitely organized and plans formulated for next year's show. The meeting will be held at the Bruce Hotel and will be preceded by a chicken dinner at 7 o'clock. Representatives from all of the five places are expected to be in attendance and officers will probably be elected. Dates for next year's shows will also be set so as to avoid conflict and to leave a week between shows. Experience has shown that poultry exhibited each week can not be kept at their best because of lack of care while in shipment.

W. E. Kingsbury has donated to the local association the use of the hall for the show and the Jackson Milling Co. has donated the feed for the poultry on exhibit.

Wounds not serious. Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish patriot and noted pianist, was not badly injured when he was shot in Warsaw a few days ago, according to word received by way of Geneva, Switzerland. Tuesday, Paderewski telegraphed friends that his wounds would not interfere with his work.

Coal famine averted. The mild weather thus far this winter has averted all danger of a fuel famine in Wisconsin, according to W. N. Fitzgerald, state fuel administrator. It is now thought the supply of hard coal which was short on the quays at the beginning of the season, will be sufficient to last over until the opening of navigation in the spring.

Robbed his grandfather. George Milne, seventeen years old, grandson of David Laut of Plainfield, was sentenced to four years in the Green Bay reformatory for stealing $250 belonging to his grandfather, while sleeping with Mr. Laut. The money was hidden under the mattress. Young Milne retired with his clothes on, telling his grandfather he was cold. Neighbors assisted Laut in catching his grandson.

Locate in Milwaukee? It is reported that Dr. F. A. Walters, a practicing physician here for many years and a former mayor of our city, is about to locate in Milwaukee and open an office there. Dr. Walters enlisted for military service several months ago, being commissioned captain in the medical corps, and was assigned to duty at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill. A recent order releasing army physicians who had passed their fiftieth year, compelled Dr. Walters to accept a discharge and he and Mrs. Walters had since been visiting in Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Meaning of chevrons. The chevrons worn by returned soldiers are puzzling to many civilians. Here are the meanings of a few. A single red chevron signifies that the soldier has been discharged with honor, the single blue chevron, less than six months' service abroad, a single gold chevron for each complete six months of service abroad is worn on the forearm of the right sleeve, a single gold chevron for each complete six months of service in the United States is worn on the forearm of the left sleeve.

NEW MEMBER ON BOARD

Harold McCallum Succeeds G. W. Andrae on Vocational School Body —Madison Man Makes Talk

Eight members of the Board of Education—C. W. Copps, Robt. K. McDonald, R. A. Cook, J. E. Delzell, H. A. Vetter, C. E. Emmons, Frank King and W. J. Dumbleton—answered to roll call at an adjourned meeting of that body, held at the High school office last evening. Because of the absence of J. M. Pfiffner, clerk, Supt. Snyder acted in his stead.

W. W. Theisen of the state department of education was introduced to the body by President Cook and made a brief talk. Mr. Theisen said he had noticed a marked improvement in the Stevens Point schools during the past two years and believed that a good share of the credit is due to their efficient superintendent. There is an especial improvement in the teaching staff and every report received from here is a good one. State wide tests made some time ago in reading and arithmetic showed Stevens Point to be near the top in several grades and took first place in some of them, showing that competent instructors are employed here. Mr. Theisen called attention to the shortage of teachers throughout the country and said that good salaries must be paid if high class people are retained. Stevens Point ought not to accept any second rate teachers, the speaker declared. Attractive salaries—$85 per month and better—are being paid stenographers at Madison and other places, therefore it is little wonder that so many are leaving the teaching profession. Janesville teachers were asked to itemize all their personal and living expenses and a compilation of the statistics showed that the yearly cost is $600 for the actual necessities. Mr. Theisen suggested that the yearly wages be placed at not less than $800; teachers ought to be paid enough to afford to go to summer school. Some boards give a bonus of $50 to teachers who attend summer sessions. The speaker touched briefly on the proposed new High school for Stevens Point, asking the board to give it serious thought so that work may be started as soon as there is a reasonable drop in prices of material.

A circular letter from the state industrial commission in regard to electric light wiring in school buildings was read and placed on file. The president and clerk will present a bill to the city council for fuel and light furnished at the Lincoln school building while the latter structure was used as an emergency hospital. It is estimated that about fifteen tons of coal were consumed during this time.

Supt. Snyder reported that the school attendance in all departments except the kindergarten is now back to normal and it is expected the little tots will soon be again in school. There is serious overcrowding in the McKinley school (Sixth ward) and an additional teacher may have to be engaged if the enrollment continues to increase. Most of the new pupils are assigned to 3rd and 5th grades.

A letter from E. B. Robertson offering to sell the board a moving picture machine for $95, was read. Supt. Snyder is investigating the offer and will report next month. G. W. Andrae, recently elected as a member of the Vocational school board, declines to serve, making it necessary to choose his successor. Mr. Snyder suggested that an employee be chosen, as there are at present two employers on the Vocational body. Later in the evening this matter was again brought up and several names suggested, including Geo. C. Stockley, Harold McCallum and Guy E. Morrill. An informal vote being taken, Stockley received five and McCallum three. As it is planned to hold the Vocational board meetings at noon, it might be impossible for Mr. Stockley to attend these sessions because of his duties as "first trick" dispatcher at the Soo line offices and therefore when a formal ballot was taken the vote stood as follows:

McCallum ..... 6
Morrill ..... 2
Dinner will be served by the domestic science department of the High school some evening soon, to which invitations will be extended to the city council, city officials and members of the Vocational board. Pres. Cook will preside and a talk will be made by Prof. Delzell, Third ward member of the board of education.

Locals easy winners. The Stevens Point Normal basketball team, despite lack of preliminary training, found the Marshfield Highs an easy victim in the game played in the local gym last Saturday evening. The contest resulted in a 42 to 12 victory for the teachers, who might easily have run their score up higher if they had so desired. Substitutes were put in by the locals after the game had been cinched.

A Minneapolis alderman. One of the "big" men of Minneapolis from financial and political standpoints is John T. Kean, a boyhood resident of Stevens Point and who is well remembered by many of our older residents. After leaving here Mr. Kean located at Woonsocket, S. Dak., where he practiced law and also for several years served as lieutenant governor of that state. Removing to Minneapolis a few years ago, he retired from active business but of late has been devoting most of his time to the duties of alderman from one of the city wards.

Eastern star elects. Officers of Arbutus Chapter No. 52, Order of the Eastern Star, elected Monday evening as follows: Worthy Matron—Mrs. C. E. Urbahn. Worthy Patron—W. J. Shumway. Associate Matron—Mrs. G. E. Morrill. Conductress—Miss Kathryn Stone. Associate Conductress—Mrs. J. R. McKinlay. Secretary—Mrs. C. H. McCreedy. Treasurer—Mrs. G. B. Clark. Trustee, 3 years—C. W. Copps.

After half century. Lyman Smith, an early day resident of Stevens Point and Portage county but who left here nearly fifty years ago for the west and had since been located in Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana and some adjoining states, spent last night in town while enroute to Plainfield. Mr. Smith's brother lives in that village. Lyman is a civil war veteran and served in that memorable struggle with a number of Stevens Pointers, most of whom have responded to "taps" within the past several years. The gentleman is now a resident of South Dakota.

Let's finish the job. This is the Slogan Adopted by Ninth Federal Reserve District for Fifth Loan Campaign.

Presidents and secretaries of press associations representing five states—Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and Montana—asssembled at Minneapolis last Monday for a conference called by A. R. Rogers, Liberty Loan chairman for the 9th Federal Reserve district. As is quite generally known, a Fifth Liberty Loan will be called early in April, along about the 6th of that month, and as the war has been fought to a successful finish it was feared by some that it might be difficult to "finish the job" when it came to raising another six billions or so of cash.

The sentiment expressed at Minneapolis Monday was that the task could be accomplished with reasonable ease if the people were intelligently informed as to the government's situation and the absolute need of floating one more bond issue. The ninth district is one of the banner districts of the country, having repeatedly gone "over the top," and Chairman Rogers and his co-workers propose to do it again. A campaign of education in reference to bonds and war savings stamps will be started at once and kept up so long as the need exists. Every possible aid will be extended by the newspapers. The ninth district includes the western half of Wisconsin, and all of the other four states named above.

Besides establishing a concrete working basis along publicity lines, the delegates were royally entertained by the Flour City's leading business men, Gov. Wold of the Federal Reserve bank being host to a Monday luncheon at the Minneapolis Club and Mr. Rogers gave a dinner party at the same place that evening. Impromptu addresses breathing the very essence of patriotism were made by city people and visitors. Wisconsin was represented at the conference by J. A. Kuypers of De Pere, president of the State Press Association; Joseph S. Hubbard of Madison, the secretary, and John W. Glennon of Stevens Point, president of the Central Wisconsin Press Association.

Hold officers' school. A school for all officers of the Wisconsin State Guard and the Wisconsin State Guard Reserves will be held in the city of Milwaukee, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 22 and 23. Regimental commanders are requested by the adjutant general to arrange for regimental meetings at such times and places as will not conflict with the regular school sessions. Capt. C. S. Orthman and Lieutenants J. A. Cashier and L. J. Eaton of Co. M of Stevens Point will attend the school.

Judgment is awarded. Judgment in the sum of $2,820.89 has been made by the industrial commission of Wisconsin in favor of Lawrence Wallace, minor son of the late Charles Wallace of McDill. Charles Wallace was an employee of the Stevens Point Pulp & Paper Co. and suffered an injury to his ankle on Jan. 23, 1918. It was claimed that his death was caused by this injury, and the commission, following a hearing held in this city in December, approved this contention. Lawrence Wallace, the beneficiary, is but 11 years of age. J. R. Pfiffner was attorney for the Wallace estate.

Stevens point defeated. Putting up a game, uphill fight against a more experienced team, the Stevens Point High school basketball five lost to the Appleton Highs at Appleton last Friday evening, 33 to 24. The game was an exciting one from start to finish and at the end of the first half Appleton had the big end of a 16 to 7 score. The Stevens Pointers came back strong in the concluding period, holding the Appletonians even, but the advantage their opponents had secured was too great to overcome. Appleton has the same team as that which was among the first four in the 1918 Lawrence tournament. Park and Elliott starred for Stevens Point and DeLand for Appleton.

Over ten thousand join the red cross. The conclusion of hostilities, the influenza epidemic and bad roads did not prevent Portage county going over the top in the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call, conducted the week before Christmas.

Final figures, compiled by Mrs. D. J. Leahy, secretary of the Portage County Red Cross Chapter, show that 10,786 Portage county residents have been enrolled in the great humanitarian organization and that $5,911.80 has been turned over to the county organization, representing memberships subscriptions and donations.

The records of Mrs. Leahy give the total adult and junior memberships taken out in the various subdivisions of the county as follows:

GOES INTO GERMANY. Charles E. McCreedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McCreedy of this city, crossed the Rhine into Germany on Dec. 14, according to a post card message received from him. He was at Nassau, a small town in Germany about 15 kilometers from Coblenz, when the message was written, and he expects to remain there until peace is concluded. He is the driver of an ambulance and is regularly enlisted in the United States army.

FROM THE BOYS WITH THE COLORS

News From Far-Away France of Local and General Interest

Letters from Charles E. McCredy, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McCredy, who has been an ambulance driver in France more than a year, during which he was awarded the French Croix de Guerre, tell in an interesting way of his experiences "over there." Extracts from recent letters follow:

Many things have happened since I wrote last and I have little time to myself. For the past week or ten days we have been on our march to the Rhine, moving with our division every day or two. When the armistice was signed we were in Le Chesne, about 15 kilometers north of Vouziers and from there we moved up along the main road to Chemery and Sedan, stopping at Florenville, just across the border into Belgium. At 10:15 a. m. on the 23rd we left French soil and entered Belgium. At Florenville we stayed just one day and put up at a fine big home where a Belgian woman and her maid are living and where many German generals had hung their hats, among them General von Kluck. On the 25th we crossed the border again into Luxembourg and at present we are quartered in a school building in the town of Ospern. The next move we make will probably take us into Germany and soon we will reach our destination, which seems to be Coblenz. Then I suppose we will stay there until peace is finally settled, which I hope won't be long as I don't imagine that we will be treated very well among the Germans. The Belgians had all us as the liberators of their stricken country. They all talk of what the Americans had done for and give us credit for the victory over Germany. So you can imagine what kind of a time we are having.

Have heard nothing about going home or when we will be mustered out. But as soon as we march down the streets of Coblenz or Mainz to the tune of the Marseillaise I'll be ready to sail back to the States.

Perhaps you will be interested to know where we are and just where I have been since coming over, so I'll give you a list of towns we have lived in and tell you where our attacks have been.

Arrived at Havre on Oct. 21, 1917, and took the train from there that evening for Paris, where we put up at the Field Service Headquarters at 21 Rue Raynouard. On Oct. 24 I became a buck private in the U. S. Army and on the 29th of us who came across together started out for Verdun to join Section 2, the section we would have picked if we had had our choice, because of its reputation. Reached Sivry la Perche the next day and found the section living there in an old stone barn on one of the main roads leading to the city of Verdun. Our division was then holding the lines on the left bank of the Meuse. On Nov. 4 I was assigned to a car and was put on a regular schedule with the rest of the fellows.

On Dec. 2 the division moved over to the right bank of the Meuse in front of Verdun and we took up quarters in a Seminary just outside the city in a suburb called Glorieux. We had our famous Christmas celebration there and then on Jan. 2 the division was relieved and we went back "en repos" to Wassy about 20 k. south of Bar-le-duc. Left there Jan. 23 and traveled east to Bethelville, from where a few of us walked to Domancy where Jean D'Arc was born. On the 26th we moved east again through Neufchateau to Bettencourt and we learned while there that the French were getting ready in that sector for a big Boche drive. On Feb. 8th we moved north to Nancy where we had as good a time as we have had yet. I left for my first permission from there and the section hadn't moved when I got back. Stayed there until March 15th and then moved west about 25 k. to Sorcy, near where Ted was stationed (I learned later). March 27th moved west again through Chalons, to Epernay, in the Champagne, the next day west again to Praugny (very small place) and the next day on to Perey Tardenois. On April 5th we moved northwest to Francport, just outside of Compiègne, and lived in our cars near a chateau grounds, and since then this certain chateau has been made famous, as you know, because it was there that the German plenipotentiaries met to discuss an armistice. April 11th we moved toward Soissons and again the next two days until we reached Pontenoy, a few k. west of Soissons on the Aisne. The division went in the trenches along the Aisne and we were kept busy there until May 7th when the division came out and we moved back a few to a small place called Pernant, 6 k. west of Soissons. On May 15th we started a two-day convoy for the north in the British sector and landed at St. Pol about 20 k. west of Arras and it was here that we said more prayers in one week than the average Episcopalian says in a lifetime. There were few nights during which we were not up running around almost crazy trying to dodge the bombs. On June 2nd we moved south again without seeing any action in the British sector and stopped at Acy, about 10 k. north of Meaux. On the 11th we made a sudden move at 4:30 in the morning and at 10:30 the same morning we went into an attack north of Monthermy which I think will be read about in future history as our troops pushed back at least four strong Boche divisions which were concentrated there to make an attack two hours after we went in. It was a hard drive and our division lost heavily. We had to pull out on the 14th and moved to Rosieres and on the 16th we moved again to Crepy en Valois where the avions kept us up almost every night. On the 4th of July we made a mysterious move all of a sudden during the night, toward the front, but it proved to be a false alarm so we went back again to the Crepy woods. On July 10th we moved to Chavre, near Villers Cotet, and the division went into the lines there. We worked hard for the next few days as the Boche threw over a lot of gas and on the 18th the division went over and got revenge. They kept going until the morning of the 20th when they were relieved. On the 27th I was made temporary sergeant in the absence of the regular sergeant and on the 28th we moved to Vivieres. Aug. 6th, moved back to Chavre, on the 7th to Grand Champ, on the 12th north again to Emerville, on the 13th north to Chelles and on the 14th north to Pont Chevalier. Division went in about the 19th and on the 20th the attack began, a few k. northwest of Soissons and another session of work without sleep began. The next day, the 21st, I had an accident and was evacuated to a French hospital, returning to the section at Chauffry, about 30 k. east of Paris, where they had come for a rest. We expected a long repos but on Sept. 21st we moved east again and went into another attack northwest of Chalons and gained several k. through that elaborate system of defenses the Boche had worked on and held for four years. The division came out on Oct. 15th for a short rest south of Chalons and went back again the first of November, in the same place, but the Boche had begun to fall back before then so we simply moved ahead as fast as we could up through Vouziers and were located at Le Chesnes when the armistice was signed. From there on the 11th we moved up along the main Sedan road, through Sedan, across Belgium and are now in Ospern, Luxembourg, about 30 k. northwest of the city of Luxembourg. We expect to move again in a day or so in the general direction of Coblenz on the Rhine, so we will be on German soil before long.

Selden McCredy, brother of Charles, is with an engineers' regiment and has seen much service in France. In a letter written Nov. 20 he said:

"I have seen many released prisoners coming back from Germany the past week and they surely looked misused—English, Russian, Roumanian, Italian, Belgian, French, but no Americans. They have some queer stories to tell and have had some terrible experiences and a great time getting back, but are glad to get here. I have seen many notables of late—Poincaré, Clemenceau, Pershing, Bullard and a whole raft of lesser lights. Suppose there is a big meeting of some kind somewhere."

In another letter, written Dec. 7 at Longuyon, five miles from the Belgian border, he said:

"We are in an old French barracks built of concrete and there must have been a great many soldiers here at one time as there are about 50 buildings. The Germans have used them since 1914. In this building they have painted scenes on the walls and some of them are very good. In one panel they have depicted the angel of peace with offerings to the allies and being answered with shell fire. Right outside there is a bunch of big guns and up town there is a four-story building filled with machine guns."

Harry Powell, former Stevens Point baseball player, is with the 37th Engineers in France. Writing his father, who resides at Coloma, under date of Nov. 24, he said:

"Some of the folks back there may think that Germany is not licked, but let me tell you and you can tell the world that Germany is the worst licked country the world ever knew, and it didn't take the Yanks very long to do the trick. I was up in north of Verdun a few days ago where used to be the biggest and thickest forest in France before the war and now there isn't a tree left standing. Only a few stumps and the ground all torn up in shell holes. In one place up there called Death Valley they say that 700,000 Germans and 100,000 French are buried. At present I am in Belrupt, a little town three or four miles southeast of Verdun. Don't know when we will leave for home, but hope it will be soon."

Thomas J. McNabe, a young man who made his home in the town of Stockton for several years, has had some exciting experiences as a soldier in France, as a letter to Martin Heffron of Stockton, with whom he formerly resided, indicates. Extracts from the letter, which was written on Dec. 8, follow:

I am still alive, but it was a hard trip. I was in the hospital for nine days. We were up in the lines 15 nights and 16 days, so you see a man's system is got to be strong to stand it. I got a little gas and not much food and poor water. Was used good at the hospital by the nurses, so please help the Red Cross all you can. I had three or four narrow escapes. Fritz and his crew took five men away from me one afternoon with one of his big shells, leaving me covered up with dirt and mud. He hit a man on the stretcher in the leg. He wasn't satisfied with four good men. Another time we were sitting in reserve and he sent over a few and a piece of the shell hit the soldier next to me in the back. If it had hit me it would have got me right in the stomach.

The country is turned upside down—villages all blown down and wire entanglements, traps and dugouts everywhere. Some of it I don't think ever can be leveled up. We are between Hardcourt and St. Mihiel, getting rested up a little. But we got the Kaiser's goat. Help the Salvation Army all you can. They brought us a feed one night during heavy shelling. Also help the Knights of Columbus. We are getting fattened up now. It was impossible at times to get feed to us up at the front, for if Fritz would see a moving rig he would shell hell out of things.

A few of the prisoners are coming back to us now. They were used mean. They say the Germans didn't mind fighting the French or English, but they didn't want much to do with the Americans.

We have been transferred to Co. G, 112th Infantry. I was anxious to see what war was like, but I got all I wanted of it.

NAME WAUBAKANISH SUGGESTED FOR CITY

Chance to Perpetuate Memory of Old Indian Chief if Stevens Point, Is Re-Christened

Although there is an old saying "if a rose were called a cabbage it would still smell as sweet," there are a good many Stevens Point residents that the city has outgrown the name it has borne since it was incorporated way back in 1858.

The argument is made that to a stranger, hearing the name for the first time, Stevens Point sounds like the name of a backwoods town and does not do justice to the modern city into which the former trading center of piny days has developed. It is all right, they say, to honor the man (George Stevens) who was reputed to be the first man to come up the Wisconsin river with a load of goods to be relayed over the present site of the city. "But why the 'point'?" is the question they ask. "Isn't Stevens Point more than a point on the map of Wisconsin?"

There are some who would drop "Point" and call the city "Stevens," which has a more metropolitan sound and would save time, labor and ink when writing the name. Others there are who would do away with the old name altogether and substitute one more to their liking, possibly one of Indian origin. One of those in the latter class, a member of one of the county's oldest families, has suggested the name of Waubakanish, warrior chief of the Chippewa and Pottawatomie tribes and a romantic figure in the days when the people of Wisconsin were ever on the alert for signs of trouble with the Indian tribes of the state.

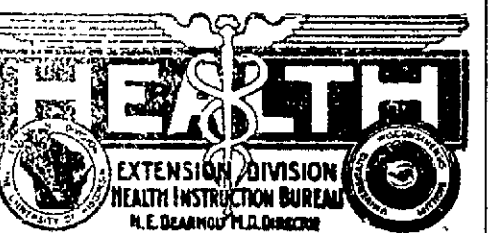

"Old Waba," as he was commonly known, is remembered by many of the older residents of Stevens Point. He was born about 1753 and died in the winter or early spring of 1873, making him 120 years old. According to the laws of the Indian tribes, when one of their number reaches the age of 100 years he is turned out or banished from the tribe, and if he isn't able to make or earn his own living he is "nepoed" or killed; but if he can make his own living he is allowed to remain with them. Old Waba was turned out of the tribe in the village of Plover in 1853.

Waubakanish's father was a Chippewa chief and his mother the daughter of a Pottawatomie chief and Waba was known as the warrior chief of the two tribes. His connection with the head chief of these two great Algonquin tribes made him a power in the councils of war and peace. At the massacre of Fort Dearborn (now Chicago) in 1812 the Chippewa Indians were led in part by old Waba and it was through his powerful influence in later years that the four great tribes of Indians in central and northern Wisconsin, namely, the Chippewa, Menominee, Winnebago and Pottawatomie, were prevented from joining the Sacs and Foxes under Black Hawk in 1832.

After the Fort Dearborn massacre old Waba became the staunch and trusted friend of the white man and no further depredations were committed upon the earlier settlers. He was the father of "Big Pappoose," a very large and powerful Indian, who, when under the influence of skoo-aw-boo or whiskey was a "heap bad injun" and one that the women and children of the country were afraid of. He died as the result of drinking a quart of alcohol and sleeping out on a logging road one night with the mercury 30 degrees below zero.

Old Waba had one daughter named Shemockwa, sometimes called Shemock for short. It is generally supposed that Shemock gave Waba poison to get rid of him, as he had become totally blind and the time of the year was near at hand when their camp or wigwam was to be moved to some other section and as he was a great trial it was easier to get him out of the way than to care for him. A great many of the older people of the county remember Shemock as the old squaw who was lame and walked with a long cane and when begging always asked for five cents, thereby gaining the name of "old five cents."

Waba was buried on the bank of the Big Plover river at what is known as Cedar Rapids in the spring of 1873. For over 60 years prior to his death he had lived in the vicinity of Stevens Point. A large picture of him hangs in the Stevens Point public library, having been presented to the institution by a group of citizens. The picture was taken from a photograph taken by the late George N. Doty in 1870 or 1871, the original of which was given to Millard Wert of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maine of this city furnished practically all of the old man's clothing and provisions during his later years and by him were presented with a large calumet or peace pipe more than half a century ago. The pipe of peace has also been exhibited at the public library.

WHAT ABOUT "YOUR TOWN?"

"Ourtown" is directly across the river from an intense rival or "Thirtown." The inhabitants of the villages, which are practically of the same size, although ours is somewhat larger, carry the rivalry into everything from baseball to social affairs, politics, and religion. We are quite convinced that we do things very much better on our side of the river than they do on theirs.

The handling of the present epidemic of influenza is no exception. Thirtown has had a large number of cases and several deaths while in Ourtown but seven families have been affected and there have been no deaths. I would not speak of this in what may be considered a boastful spirit were it not for the fact that there is in our respective experiences a life-saving lesson for cities and villages.

We have specialized in health protection in Ourtown. Our health board has as good citizens on it as we have. The appropriations for its work have been generous and are expended for the most modern disease fighting agencies. The school children's health is supervised by a well paid health nurse who is as ambitious to keep disease out of the community as a good housewife is to keep bedbugs out of her house.

Theirtown is different. The people are looking backward instead of forward. They say that what was good enough for them when they were young is good enough for their children. They boast about their low tax rate instead of their low death rate. And yet neither the town as a whole nor the individual families are as prosperous as are we who live across the river. It seems so obvious to us that there can be no wealth without health that we cannot understand how any community can remain so persistently ignorant as is Thirtown.

Some people feel very proud of the way they jumped to their work making munitions to protect their country at $10.00 a day.

As a part of the development of the water power along the Chippewa river, the first item of which was the erection of the $5,000,000 Wisconsin Light & Power Co. plans on building a $400,000 dam at Chippewa Falls this summer on the site of the former plant of the Chippewa Lumber & Boom Co.

The Marathon county board of supervisors has appropriated $1,000 and the Wausau common council $500 for a homecoming and peace jubilee in mid-summer. Each body has also appointed committees to secure relics of the war for a central county exhibit, cannon to be secured from the government and smaller relics and mementoes from men in the service and other sources.

About 30 county training school superintendents met at Madison last week, with M. H. Jackson presiding. Discussion centered on the feasibility of the law passed by the last legislature requiring all rural school teachers after 1921 to have the equivalent of high school training and one year professional experience, in view of the acute scarcity throughout the state of men and women teachers.

The state board of control fixed the following prices for binder twine produced at the prison for 1919, if sold prior to Aug. 1, f.o.b. cars at Wausau: Standard, 500 feet to pound, 20 cents per pound; Climax, 600 feet, 20 cents. Deductions allowed on 2,000 pounds and less than 10,000, if paid prior to Oct. 1, 1919; 10,000 pounds and under 20,000, 1/4 cent per pound; 20,000 pounds, or carload lots, 1/2 cent a pound.

Wausau Record-Herald: Charles Nagler of town of Hull, who was arrested about three months ago by the U. S. department of justice on account of failure to register as an alien enemy and spreading German propaganda, was taken to Madison by U. S. Marshal Frank P. O'Connor after he had spent three months in the Wausau jail. Marshal O'Connor expects to take him to the internment camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., in a few days. Nagler is married and owns a farm in the town of Hull.

STILL AN ARMY WORKER

Capt. Edward E. Johnson, Well Known Here, Discharged But Is Going to Europe

Capt. Edward E. Johnson, who for a short time several years ago practiced law in the offices of Fisher & Cashion in this city, arrived at Wausau last week for a visit at the home of his father, Alfred Johnson.

After leaving Stevens Point Capt. Johnson went to Wausau, where he was elected district attorney two years ago, but resigned to enter the second officers' training school at Fort Sheridan. He was commissioned first lieutenant in infantry, served for seven months at Camp Taylor, Ky., and was then transferred to Camp Gordon, Ga., where he was promoted to captain and also served as regimental adjutant.

Capt. Johnson has been discharged from the service but has not completed his work among the military forces. He will leave in February, as a civilian, on a trip that will take him to France and Italy to assist in establishing and organizing the overseas work for vocational and educational training of American soldiers. He will be gone six months and may circle the world before returning home.

TO VOTE ON PROHIBITION

Resolution Favoring Amendment Introduced in Legislature—Governor's Message

The state legislature reassembled at Madison on Tuesday of this week after an adjournment since Thursday. Assemblyman H. J. Week of Stevens Point came home for over Sunday.

The national prohibition amendment, which must have the ratification of 36 states before being incorporated into the constitution, has already been laid before the Wisconsin solons, and a resolution introduced by Senator Skowronski provides for its passage. It is said that the dregs will be able to muster at least 52 of the 100 votes in the assembly and 21 of the 33 in the senate.

Gov. Philipp read his message before both houses of the legislature Thursday. He advocated:

Resolutions recognizing services of Wisconsin soldiers and civilians in war.

Purchase of land by United States government for allotment to returning soldiers, with loan and plan for easy payments.

Appointment by the legislature of a large commission to handle controversies and suggest fair scales of wages during reconstruction.

Better railroad service and prewar rates. Resolution to congress on subject.

System of military training in high schools and fuller recognition of the national guard by federal authorities.

No foreign language instruction in public, common, or graded schools.

Further Americanization measures.

Better marketing facilities.

Repeal of statute under which present form of state life insurance is carried.

Amendment to "blue sky law" limiting action of the railroad commission to permitting sale of stocks and bonds only to corporations domiciled in the state.

Economy in state expenditures.

Enactment of new draining bill.

Brief session.

Week secretary and treasurer.

FIVE MONTHS IN SERVICE

Carson Township Soldier Returns From Eastern Military Camp—Lucy Polly, Housekeeper

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Polly and son and daughter, Edward and Lucy, drove down from their home near Junction City last Friday and mingled among local friends a few hours. All were happy because of the expected return home on Sunday of another son and brother, John F. Polly, who has just received an honorable discharge from military service. In company with a number of other Portage county boys, John left here last August for a training camp in Kansas, but a few weeks later was transferred to Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., from where he confidently hoped to be sent overseas, but the signing of the armistice spoiled his desires. The young man was mustered out at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill.

Lucy Polly is now performing the duties of housekeeper at the home of her uncle, John Bikowski, Jr., whose wife died on Dec. 11th, leaving a family of five young children. The youngest child is being cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Polly, one is with other relatives at Junction City village and three remain at home. Lucy is proving an ideal "little mother" for her orphaned cousins.

TIMES GETS LINOTYPE

In the matter of population, Mosinee can hardly be compared with Chicago, but it is none the less a fact that the Marathon county village is one of the liveliest places in central Wisconsin. All the principal happenings which take place there are written up in an interesting manner by Bert Walters, publisher of the Mosinee Times, and within another week or two his "copy" will be put into type form with the aid of a Mergenthaler linotype machine, recently ordered by him. The installation of this modern newspaper aid is further evidence that Mr. Walters is meeting with deserved prosperity.

NORMAL SHORT COURSE

Special Session for Farm Boys and Girls to Be Held at Local State School

A short course for farm boys and girls, to begin on Feb. 3 and continue through the month, has been announced by the Stevens Point Normal in a bulletin just issued.

"The aim of the short course is to help farm boys and girls become better farmers," the bulletin announces. "The short course studies have been selected and planned with great care so as to help you make a larger income from your farm and at the same time make your farm better, and to improve farm life in general. The teachers in the short course have all lived on a farm, know farm conditions and know how to better these conditions."

Prof. H. Reese Brentzel will be director of the short course and will act as instructor in agriculture. Subjects to be taken up by him include "Soils and Soil Fertility," "Farm Crops" and "Farm Animals." He will emphasize particularly methods of building up sandy soils and making them produce bigger crops of potatoes, oats, corn, rye, etc. Prof. O. W. Neale will conduct a course in farm arithmetic, based up on practical problems. Prof. J. E. Delsell will instruct in farm English, including the writing of letters, advertisements, notes, bills and other business forms. D. A. Swartz will have charge of the classes in farm sanitation and V. E. Thompson will instruct in wood-working and drawing. Farm sewing and cookery will be directed by Miss Bessie M. Allen. The entire course will be along practical lines, with the idea of giving to the students the maximum of training that will prove valuable on the farm.

The bulletin says:

"There will be a number of lectures with lantern slides each week of the short course by different members of the Normal school faculty and there will be other forms of entertainment in connection with the Normal, such as plays, basketball games, music, etc. Provision will also be made whereby the gymnasium may be used for games and other forms of recreation and amusement for short course students."

The studies as outlined in this bulletin only cover the work for this year, the first year of the short course will be repeated and the short course students who come to us this year and complete these studies will be given a more advanced course next year. Plans for next year depend on the success of the short course this year and will be announced later. The Stevens Point Normal is anxious to do all it can for the young people of central Wisconsin."

Short course students who desire help in finding boarding and rooming places should write H. Reese Brentzel, director short course, State Normal school, Stevens Point, Wis., before Feb. 1. Further information about the course can be received from John F. Sims, president of the Normal, or Mr. Brentzel.

WAS KIND AND CHARITABLE

Late Mrs. N. T. Kelly of Wausau Was Deeply Beloved by People of That City—Pilot Gives Tribute

Mrs. N. T. Kelly, whose recent death at Wausau was noted in last week's Gazette, had been numbered among that city's most esteemed residents for a period of nearly 45 years, she moving there from Stevens Point shortly after her marriage.

The Wausau Pilot relates an interesting bit of history and also pays a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Kelly in the following paragraphs:

Nathaniel Kelly came to this county with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Kelly, in 1851. The latter had acquired large timber interests in this pinery and erected a mill at Kelly, Wis., on the Eau Claire river, about nine miles south west of Wausau. He was a continuous resident of this county up to the time of his death, which occurred on the 28th day of March, 1870. He contributed largely in developing the vast resources of Marathon county. His sons, Wm. P. and Nathaniel T. Kelly, continued the lumber business of their father until the death of the former, when the business was taken over by Nathaniel Kelly and conducted by him until his death, Jan. 22nd, 1883.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly continued to reside in Stevens Point until 1874, when they came to Wausau to make their home, occupying their new residence on Grand avenue. The home was a favorite place for the young and old to congregate, and it was the true spirit of hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly which drew to them close and lasting friendships.

Of Mrs. Kelly, it can well be said that, "None knew her but to love; none knew her but to praise." Her remarkably buoyant nature, which was so characteristic of her through life; her strong faith in her friends, and her boundless charity for all, which had for its aim the covering with a kindly mantle, all human frailties, and that charity which was untiring in its efforts to alleviate the suffering and distress of others less fortunate, makes her loss outside of her family circle where it is irreparable, deeply felt and mourned by the many who knew her.

Notwithstanding her advanced age she took great interest in local and world-wide events and continually imparted happiness and good cheer to those about her and she was always the affectionate center of interest in the home circle.

She was a member of the First Universalist church of Wausau and the Ladies' aid society of that denomination, devotedly working for their interests and progress during her life in Wausau.

Miss Helga Anderson, who had been spending three weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Anderson, Main street, departed Saturday morning on her return to New York city to resume her work as Montessori instructor in the Virginia Day Nursery school.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The question of installing Reserve Officers' Training Corps in the various institutions was also up for discussion.

Plenty of Proof

From People You Know—From Stevens Point Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced by evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Stevens Point, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

F. C. Holman, 418 Dixon St., Stevens Point, says: "I was hurt in an accident and it affected my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they fixed me up in good shape. I know that Doan's are a fine kidney medicine."

Of the Common Council of the City of Stevens Point

A regular meeting of the common council held in the council chambers Tuesday evening, January 7, 1919, Mayor Owen presiding.

All members present except Alderman McDonald.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

A resolution by Ald. Cassidy: Resolved, by the common council of the city of Stevens Point, that the time for the payment of taxes without penalty be extended to March 1, 1919.—M. Cassidy, Alderman Second ward.

Moved by Ald. Redfield and seconded same be adopted. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Ald. Firkus and seconded same be adopted.

A resolution by Ald. Welsby: Whereas, for a number of years past the city water supplied by the Stevens Point Water Co. to its patrons in the city of Stevens Point, which has been drawn from and supplied by the Wisconsin river, has been foul, unpalatable, impure and discolored, so that the same is not fit for drinking purposes, and

Whereas, for a number of years past the waters of the Wisconsin river which flow past said city, have been polluted, discolored and rendered unwholesome for use by the public and fishing has been destroyed in said river where it flows through said city, and above, and

Whereas, numerous requests have been made of the Stevens Point Water Co. to furnish palatable and wholesome water for the residents of the city and the consumers, and the matter has been brought before the United States board of health numerous times, and referred to the Railroad commission of Wisconsin several times, in order to obtain redress, and to request said commission to restore said water to its natural state, and

Whereas, none of the attempts which have been made to improve the water situation in the city, have been even partially successful, and it seems that said company and said commission can give the public no satisfaction and

Whereas, said pollution of said stream is due to the discharge of waste matter into said stream at Mosinee, by the Wausau Sulphate Fiber Co. and

Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the undersigned that in all probability it would be possible by legal action to prevent further discharge of waste matter into said stream by said company,

Now, therefore, be it resolved, by this council, for the benefit of the citizens of the city of Stevens Point and the consumers of the water supply of the said city, as well as for the benefit of the general public that a committee be appointed by the mayor of said city, to investigate the advisability of commencing legal action on behalf of said city, and private taxpayers, for the benefit of all taxpayers, against said company, and

Be it further resolved, that said committee be empowered to employ such counsel as they deem it necessary to assist the city attorney, at a reasonable expense, to investigate said question and report to the council the advisability of commencing an action in law or in equity, to properly prevent the further pollution of said stream, by the company above referred to, said counsel to be paid by the city of Stevens Point. Dated January 2, 1919. Introduced by Alderman J. N. Welsby.

Moved by Ald. Redfield and seconded same be adopted. Carried.

A notice from the Wisconsin Valley Electric company that the new street lighting system was completed read.

Moved by Ald. Redfield and seconded that the lighting committee be instructed to investigate and report at the next meeting. Carried.

Weekly Health Talks

What Doctor Pierce Has Done For Humanity!

BY DOCTOR CRIPPS.

It has always seemed to me that Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., should be placed near the top when a list of America's great benefactors is written. He studied and conquered human diseases to a degree that few realize. Whenever he found a remedy that overcame disease, he at once announced it in the newspapers and told where it could be bought at a small price. He did not follow the usual custom of keeping the ingredients secret, so that the rich only could afford to buy the medicine, but openly printed the name of each root and herb he used. And so today the names of Dr. Pierce and his medicines are widely known, and they stand for better health and better citizenship.

One of this great physician's most successful remedies is known as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground. These Pellets are safe because they move the bowels gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as so many pills do. Very often they make a person who takes them feel like a new man or woman, for they cleanse the intestines of hard, decayed and poisonous matter that accumulates when one is constipated. If you are constipated, by all means go to your druggist and get some of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They may prove to be the very thing your system requires to make you well and happy.

city for aid and as they had a contract with J. Nachman for their support he thought it advisable to investigate the matter.

Moved by Ald. Schoettel and seconded that same be referred to the controller and city attorney. Carried.

Moved and seconded that the building committee again advertise the South side barber shop for sale. Carried.

Moved and seconded council adjourn. Carried.

W. L. BRONSON, City Clerk.

BERGER IS CONVICTED

Wisconsin Congressman-elect, and Four Other Socialists Face Prison Terms

Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee, congressman-elect, and four other socialist leaders, were found guilty of violations of the espionage act by a jury in federal court at Chicago late last Wednesday afternoon. As a result they face sentences of from one to 20 years in prison or fines of from $1,000 to $10,000, or both.

Those convicted with Berger are Edwin St. John Tucker, J. Louis Engdahl, W. R. Kruse and Adolph Gerner. The verdict was returned after the jury had been out nearly six hours and had taken three ballots. The first ballot stood 10 to 2 for conviction.

Counsel for the defense filed a motion for a new trial and Judge K. M. Landis set Jan. 23 for hearing arguments on the motion. Sentence was withheld pending the hearing and all the defendants were allowed to remain at liberty under the bonds they had previously furnished.

Berger's conviction will undoubtedly result in his being barred from congress, although formal action on this cannot be taken until the 66th congress meets. Under the constitution each house of congress is judge of its own membership and Berger's status will be decided by vote of the house.
